

Psaros has developed an environmental policy, which now underpins their core business and effects all decisions. Psaros have become a market leader in sustainable, intelligent and quality dwellings in Perth, Western Australia.

Psaros provides a turn-key solution for residential developments in Perth Western Australia and aims to become the 'Developer of Choice' through environmentally responsible design. Psaros is dedicated to enhancing sustainability outcomes for investors and home-buyers through maximizing financial, environmental and social benefits of their developments.

Psaros is committed to the long-term integration of sustainability and environmentally responsible practices throughout the organisation. We recognise that reducing and where possible eliminating the environmental impacts of our activities is an important part of our mission.

We strive to be a leader in achieving environmental excellence and will work with our employees and their subcontractors to achieve continual environmental improvement in business operations and property development. We will do this by implementing a management system with objectives and targets to:

- Minimise environmental footprint of operations and developments.
- Measure and report our environmental performance on an annual basis from head office operations.
- Engage and educate staff and stakeholders on environmental issues.
- Implement ongoing practices that are above and beyond current industry environmental standards.
- Positively influence the property industry to generate a shift towards sustainability.

We are committed to complying with all applicable environmental laws and regulations (exceeding where possible) and conducting operations and activities in an environmentally responsible and sustainable manner.

The goals listed will serve as long-term objectives, against which we will implement actions towards.

CEO
Danny Psaros

Managing Director
Mike Enslin

